Incidents of Trip of the Volunteers-- Great Receptions at Cerrillos and Albuquerque.

"ICY MIT" AT FLAGSTAFF Soft Pine Planks Deemed Luxurious--Bacon, Beans and Coffee--Four Hours' Drill Daily--Getting Used to It--All Well.

Special to the New Mexican.
Whipple Barracks, July 15.—Very few events of interest transpired on the trip from Santa Fe to Whipple barracks.
Some of the boys felt a little glum after passing out of sight of the Ancient City; but the good nature of others proved infectious and before long was reached enthusiasm and happiness were keyed to the highest pitch.

Governor Otero accompanied the party to Albuquerque, and Mr. and Mrs.
Gable, Mrs. Strover, Misses Walz, Hurt, Gable, Guilford, and General Easley were passengers to Lamy. There Judge McFie and Mr. and Mrs. Foraker greeted the volunteers.
The boys were profuse with their cheers, and to mention the name of Captain Snover or Sergeant Leahy was sufficient to call forth loud and prolonged acclamation. Everyone who passed through the cars was greeted with a storm of cheers.
At Cerrillos about 600 people welcomed the boys. Company C did not forget the fact that, in proportion to its population, Cerrillos furnished more volunteers than any other place in New Mexico, and they responded right royally to the reception.

From Cerrillos songs were the order of the hour. That latest and most popular "national air," "A Home in the Old Town Tonight," was unmercifully butchered, and was supplemented by "America," "Marching through Georgia," etc.
About 200 people gathered on the depot grounds in Albuquerque. Coffee, fruit, and flowers were distributed by the ladies of the city. The band did not come out for the reason that some of its members were laid up with the small pox.

The trip through New Mexico was more like a triumphal march than anything else. At each stop, the Ladies' Soldiers Aid society was cheered. The band greatly appreciated the kindness of the Santa Fe ladies. Cards from the lunches were preserved, and in some instances flowers were pressed between leaves of testaments, in remembrance of the kindness of the donors. The members of the company, in the proportion to its route and it seems like the culminating point of incongruity to drop from fruit, angel food and delicate knick nacks to bacon, beans and hard tack.
While good living in Santa Fe had a tendency to fashion our tastes esthetically, there is not a person here who expected it, and you can bet your life, we are getting it. There is a grim sort of humor about it all. Those who have "roughed it," previously, take delight in watching the initiation of the tender-feet.

Night on the cars was a sad commentary on comfort. No blankets were issued, and the cane seats were as hard as Governor Otero's heart when Co. C, 1st regiment Weary Walkers, petitioned him to appoint Jimmy Leahy 2nd lieutenant.

In the morning, service was read from the Mission Service books distributed by Father Gay.
At Flagstaff the boys got the "icy mit." One lady came down to the train and shook hands all around. She was the only "good fellow" in town. Flagstaff probably don't know that a girl being prosecuted. The denizens of the place are still casting their votes for Andy Jackson. When the train pulled into Whipple five companies of infantry greeted Co. C. Cheer after cheer rent the air as the company was marched to its quarters. Captain Reynolds, commander of the new garrison, gave a nice talk; complimented the boys on their appearance and deportment, and informed them of the fall of Santiago. The summer at Manila is slated next and this regiment will be hurried there as soon as possible.

Last night, each member of the company was provided with a blanket. No straw was available and soft pine planks were deemed luxurious.
There are a number of musicians in the regiment and the seductive strains of the guitar, mandolin and banjo music echoed around the barracks until taps was sounded.

Today is being devoted to general house cleaning in Company C's quarters.
The job is not so pleasant.
It is amusing to note the demeanor of some of the non-coms, since coming here.
A few who have not seen previous victims imagine they are the "whole cheese" and that they "cut more ice" than the commander-in-chief. Sergeants Gutterman and Leahy, who are old timers, are kept busy "sitting down" on the more important ones and instructing them in their duties.

It is expected that equipments will be issued next week. Some of the boys who came with other companies have been here ten days and have scarcely clothes enough left to flag a hand car.
The only case of sickness is Private Elder, who is subject to fits.

After today, Company C will drill four hours each day. In this connection it may be well to say that hades is a mountain summer resort compared to Whipple.

Company Clerk Kearney is 29 years of age today. The event was celebrated by tapping a fresh keg of hard tack.

Mall intended for members of the company should be addressed as follows:
"A. Brown, Whipple Barracks, Prescott, Ariz., Company C."

It is not necessary to include the name of the regiment.

The company clerk, who, by the way, also holds the "Company C" knows he has been befriended.
They'll send us to the Philippines.
Far, far across the sea.
But never, mind the change of scenes, Will you forgotten be.

Each man says to himself tonight
"I'll do what is assigned me."
"And when Cuba's free, I'll be back to see "The girl I leave behind me." Please give the above important space, top of column, next to pure reading matter.
This afternoon, all privates in Company C will be given a four hours' vacation, which will be improved by a trip to Prescott.
